

Snow's AE 2 Quiz 4

Pro Tools Stuff, Drum Editing and Tuning

1. How do you assign multiple outputs to a single track in Pro Tools?
2. What is the quick key for copying track settings of all selected tracks to the sends of those tracks?
3. List 4 reasons why we would use a session template in Pro Tools.
4. What is the Pro Tools quick key for suspending all active groups?
5. What are the four most used methods for sound replacing live drums?
6. What are two benefits of using region grouping when editing drums, and what are the quick keys to both group and ungroup regions?
7. What is the difference between coated and non-coated drum heads?

8. Which type of wood on a drum is louder and more resonant, maple or birch?

9. When tuning a drum head, what direction do we use when tightening the lugs? Why?

10. Which drum head gives the tone of the drum?

11. Which drum head is used for stick definition?

12. What are the sonic differences between a wood snare drum and a metal snare drum?